The 2016 Census is coming!

Canada's next census will be conducted in May 2016.

Early in May, census packages will be delivered to households across Canada, providing residents with the information they need to complete their questionnaire online or on paper.

Completed questionnaires will provide valuable information that will be used by all levels of government to make decisions about your neighbourhood and community. Information obtained through the census is needed to plan services such as child care, schooling, family services, housing, public transportation and skills training for employment.

Every person, young and old, must be included in the 2016 Census.

As more and more Canadians look for ways to reduce their carbon footprint by "keeping it local", there is one way to help your community grow and prosper that many citizens may never think of – completing the census.

Did you know that the census collects demographic information on every person living in Canada so that programs and services in communities can be improved? The information that is collected by the census, which starts on May 2 this year, is used by local, provincial and federal governments, businesses and various social service and ethno-cultural organizations for planning.

Everything from pensions, health care and employment programs to new schools, public transit, hospitals and daycare centres are all influenced by the information shared during the census.

You could be randomly selected to complete the long-form questionnaire, however, most Canadians will be asked to complete the short-form census. Either way, the census will provide the information communities and organizations need until the next census comes around five years from now.

Beyond just completing our own questionnaires, teachers can further support the important work of Statistics Canada by supporting families in completing the questionnaire. Statistics Canada has questionnaires available in many languages and teacher resources on their website www.census.gc.ca.
